

I feel this is the best answer to very bad choices that the cable company enforces....and that it would give seniors that are on a fixed income a quality of TV that would be to their comfort zone. Shame on the cable and satellite owners for being more money hungry, then service oriented, specially to a group of peoples that are actually as large as the seniors are. Then shame on the seniors for letting them get away with it.